Dear Administrator McCarthy,

As a person of faith, I am greatly concerned about climate change. All levels of government must act quickly to limit industrial carbon pollution.

Climate change is already becoming apparent in Pennsylvania, the country, and the world. As it unfolds, it will hurt first and worst those least able to get out of harm's way—the poor, the old, the young, and the ill. Thus, we have a moral responsibility to take serious action to slow climate change.

To this end, I support EPA's proposed standard to limit industrial carbon pollution from new power plants, and I urge you to finalize the rule quickly without weakening it in any way.

Sincerely,
