Open to Public – Bring a friend

This groundbreaking documentary explores the impacts of climate change.

Viewer comments:

- This is the most important series you can share with your friends and family. Climate change is the biggest challenge we face as a civilization and it will affect the lives of everyone on the planet.
- Incredible series, I have learned so much. A great educational resource. Worth getting access to this series.
- This series is unsettling because it's real. I wish every decision-maker, consumer, politician, and young person on the planet would see this and take action. We are way behind to get ahead of this unfolding catastrophe.
- An excellent documentary. Hopefully it will cause you to take actions to save our children's future.

Light supper provided.

Watch two episodes (one hour each), with time for food and discussion.
